

WeRateDogs Twitter Analysis

Introduction

WeRateDogs is a Twitter account that rates dogs in submitted photos. It has an unusual rating system; most dogs are rated more than 10/10! Some submitters also specify whether the dog is a 'doggo', 'pupper', 'puppo', or 'floofer.'

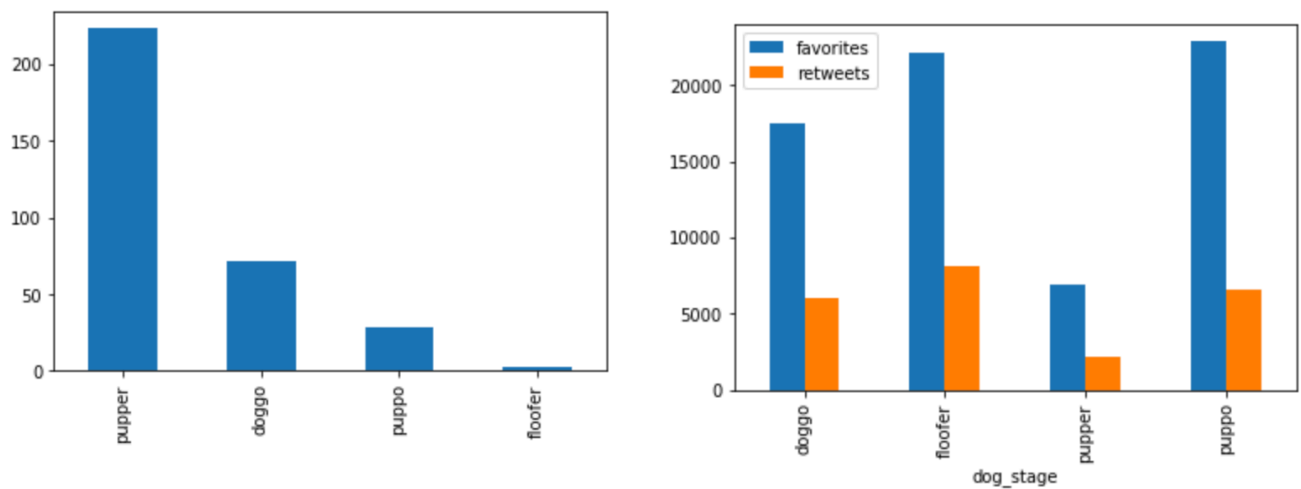

I analyzed tweets and discovered some interesting insights.

Does WeRateDogs and the Twitter verse agree on how funny a dog is?

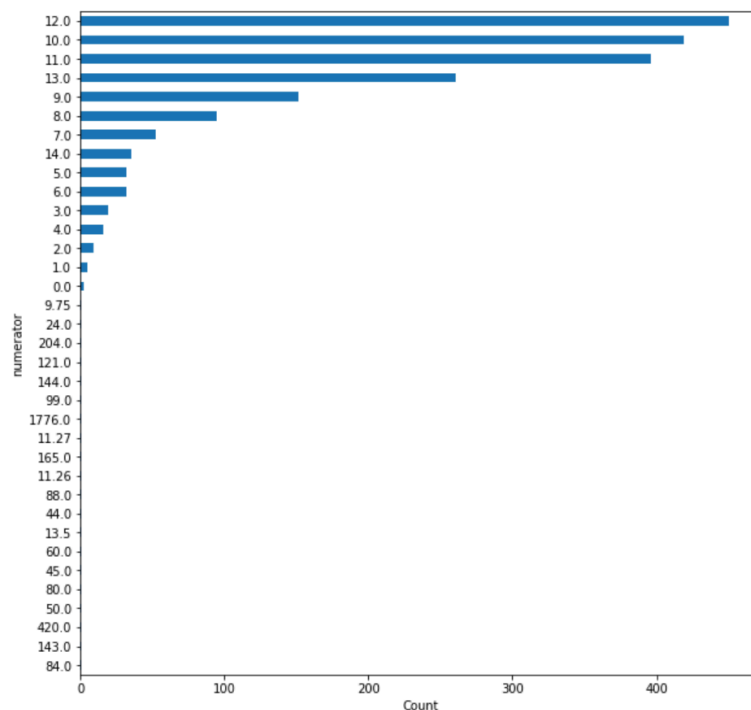

Both retweet count and favorite count correlate modestly with rating. This is unsurprising; human behavior is difficult to predict.

In which stage does most of the dogs lie , anyway?

Most dogs are in pupper stage as compared to rest of the stages.
Floofer gets the highest favorites and retweets while pupper gets the highest inspite of having the highest frequency

How genuine is the rating of WeRateDogs ?

Dogs are rated on a scale of one to ten, but are invariably given ratings in excess of the maximum, such as “12/10”. WeRateDogs is one of the most followed pages by users on twitter if one is looking for dog photos. Moreover, they review dogs with really great ratings and witty comments that will definitely light up the reader, specially the owner of the dog .
